

Week 8 Homework

Connecting the Dots

- Remember your guidelines and be sure to have a mental list for finding integration points.
- Practice old cases again to remind yourself when you are hitting a critical point.
- Think about the end of the case, right at the beginning. You'll almost always have to give a recommendation.

Crack the Case
SUMMER CAMP

10 WEEKS TO TRANSFORMATION

America's Pantry & RGH

- These are long cases with many layers.
- The structure portion is light, and you should easily pass threshold. BUT, your job is to think, "What do I need to recommend at the end of the case?"
- Plan a 2-hour session with your partner. Giving and taking is longer and complex. Also, you'll want to be ready to explain the case to your partner.
- These cases are in C4, our online system. Log in and be ready to watch the full video AFTER you do the case.
- For extra work go through the integration module to prepare for next week. We'll be covering 2nd Level Insights.
- It is NORMAL to bomb parts of these cases. Be ready to do them again with a different partner.

Homework 8

Connecting the Dots

Homework:

1. Do the America's Pantry and RGH cases in the portal. Use a give and take approach with a camp partner. These are long cases with lots of layers and require 20 minutes of review before giving.
2. Review your math: estimation, mental math, slides and now formulas.
3. Schedule three practice sessions per week, two hours each.
4. Map out a schedule between now and your interviews.

Homework: America's Pantry and RGH will be there Monday.

Finding your practice group: Search on your group number in the directory to find your team and practice partners. Keep rotating with partners in your group. Also feel free to reach out to others outside of your group for additional practice.

Class Review: Slide deck and video will be posted on Monday.

Office Hours: David is hosting office hours on Thursday, 7/30, 9 AM CST via Zoom. Not recorded. Drop in if you have questions. Stay for part or all of the time.

Industry guide: Rolling out this week.

Additional Practice: Reinforce your Summer Camp investment by setting regular practice times. There's a lot you can do:

- Review old cases. Practicing old cases out loud builds fluency and confidence.
- Take ownership by creating review notes, flash cards and a case binder.
- Reach out to new partners after you have practiced with your group.
